MAKING SENSE OF LIFE SENTENCES

Speakers this year are challenged to discuss how we can safely and accurately risk assess for ROTL? How can we successfully manage the growing number of elderly life-sentenced prisoners? When is it safe to release? How life sentenced prisoners can be safely managed, supervised and monitored in the community and how can we support life sentenced prisoners to live a productive and law abiding life in the future?

Bill Perrie

Retired from HM Prison Service in 1987 after 32 years of working in prisons, governing HMPs Hull, Long Lartin and Winson Green.

A renowned practitioner, Bill contributed much to the development of hostels, working out schemes and regimes for long term prisoners.

In 1986 he attended the first Lectures, named after him. He continued to support them right up until 1997. Sadly Bill died on 15th November 1997. He was considered one of the preeminent Governors of his era.

Throughout his career he was ever aware of the essential humanity of his staff and charges.

His inspiration and support are greatly missed.

The Purpose of The Perrie Lectures

To stimulate dialogue between criminal justice organisations, the voluntary sector and all those with an academic, legal or practical interest in offenders and their families.

We share the belief that through these lectures and the ensuing dialogue, the care of offenders can be improved and penal policy, in its broadest sense, advanced.

The text of the lectures is reproduced in full in the Prison Service Journal.

The Perrie Lectures Committee is independent and nonprofit making. Its members work within a range of organisations.

Newbold Revel

The Perrie Lectures take place at the Prison Service College, Newbold Revel, near Rugby, Warwickshire. The lectures are held in the auditorium of the College Conference Centre. Free parking is available on site and visitors will be directed on arrival.

How to reach the College (CV23 0TH)

By train to Rugby or Coventry station, then by taxi to Stretton-under-Fosse. By road both the M1 and M6 pass within reasonable travelling distance of the college, which is situated on the B4027 near Stretton-under-Fosse.
